

The Science Behind the Schemes

Agri-environment schemes are changing - do you wish you could look into the future and see what will happen?

All farmers and farm environment advisors are invited to a FREE knowledge-exchange event with some of the UK's top environmental scientists.

This event will give you the chance to speak to scientists who contribute to the creation of agri-environment policy research.

Topics will include soil carbon storage, diffuse pollution and the use of satellite imagery for farm planning.

June 11th 2013 - 10am to 2pm - includes an excellent buffet lunch
Hollins Farm, Ennerdale, CA23 3AL

For more information, or to book your place, Tel: 01768 868615 or E mail: bookings@thefarmnetwork.co.uk

This event is BASIS and BIAC registered

The scientists are interested to hear about your experiences and find out what is involved in creating and managing a Farm Environment Plan. You will also have chance to discuss ideas for future research.

If you have a particular question or topic of interest please let us know in advance if possible – so we can make sure we can give you the best available information on the day.
